FOR McKINLEY.

Protection, Reciprocity and Silver Coinage.

A RINGING PLATFORM

The Funding Bill is Denounced.

AID FOR AGRICULTURAL STAPLES

Resolutions Which Instruct for McKinley, Declare for Protection and Reciprocity, Free Coinage of Silver, Restriction of Immigration, the Enfranchisement of Women and the Building of Permanent Highways—Delegates and Electors—Central Committee.

SACRAMENTO, May 6.—The McKinley enthusiasts completely captured the Republican state convention today, although the district delegates elected from the Fourth Congressional district were unpledged and are avowedly Allison supporters. The Fifth district delegates will probably be of the same principal complexion, but the other fourteen are bound to McKinley by the strongest pledges that could be framed.

The convention assembled at 10.30 a. m. The committee on organization reported in favor of making the temporary officers permanent. The report also recommended the nomination of presidential electors and of a lieutenant governor. An attempt to consider the report seriatem failed and the report was adopted.

The committee on credentials reported next. Alameda county primary delegates were seated. Sacramento county's regularly appointed delegates were seated. The Spreckels delegates from San Francisco were recognized and seated, as were the Forty-first Assembly district primary delegates. In the Thirty-second district the primary delegation was seated, but the Thirty-third district delegation was thrown out completely on account of fraud. The committee decided that the proxies used by the Spear committee in San Francisco to call primaries were forgeries and therefore the meeting was illegal.

Another portion of the credentials report was a recommendation that primaries be held hereafter instead of the appointment of delegates by county or congressional committees. The roll call was the first test of strength of the opposing Spreckels and Spear factions. Los Angeles voted 66 noes and 7 ayes. Alameda voted aye. The south was well together, and as the roll call progressed it was seen that Spreckels would win. The motion to consider seriatem was lost, 477 to 99.

Taylor of Alameda, representing the unseated delegation from that county, was given the floor and made a speech protesting against the report. The previous question was demanded, however, and the report of the committee declared adopted.

Kowalsky of San Francisco was recognized, and spoke in favor of the Spear delegation. He talked about the "gagged convention," and, pointing to the Southern California delegation, said that he did "not want to see a lot of carpet-baggers come here and run things." He denounced the credential committee as unfair, and was becoming more and more vitriolic in his words when he was shut off on a point of order.

Ruef of San Francisco was attempting to talk but was shut off because he was not a delegate. This settled the question, and the San Francisco Spreckels delegation marched to their seats amid cheers.

Obrien of San Francisco, one of the unseated delegates, jumped on his chair and denounced the convention as an A. P. A. council. The Spear delegates filed sadly from the hall and one big fight of the convention was over.

The A.P.A., although not obtrusively conspicuous, played an important part in the convention. The strength of the order was shown in the ballot for delegates-at-large when the solid A.P.A. vote went for Cleaves, who received 210 votes. He was not on the slate, however, and other combinations beat him out.

The program as outlined by the leaders went through smoothly. Occasionally there was an attempt on the part of a few unruly ones to break away, but they were hopelessly in the minority and soon gave up.

Recess was then taken to await the report of the committee on platform.

THE PLATFORM.

Committee Report Strengthened by Amendments.

The platform committee submitted the following:

"A delegate to the national convention is charged with a public trust; with the execution of the public mandate. William McKinley of Ohio is the choice of the people of the state of California for the nomination for President of the United States, therefore we endorse him for such nomination and our delegates are hereby instructed to vote for him and to use their best efforts to procure his nomination."

George A. Knight of San Francisco charged that the McKinley plank in the platform was not strong enough, and offered the following substitute which was adopted amid enthusiastic cheering:

"Resolved, That the Republicans of California, while recognizing the earnest worth and fitness of each of the distinguished statesmen of their party whose names have been mentioned as aspirants for the presidential nomination at St. Louis, and while pledging in advance the electoral vote of the Golden state to the Republican nominee whoever he may be, hereby declare that the emphatic sentiment of California is in favor of the nomination of that wise and able statesman, that pure and unsullied patriot, that true and loyal American, that peerless champion of protection, William McKinley of Ohio, and the delegates from this state are hereby directed and instructed to work and vote for the success of the said McKinley as long as there is a reasonable prospect of his nomination."

The following amendment to the platform, offered by Frank H. Short of Fresno, was adopted unanimously:

"We commend the course of our delegates in congress in opposing the proposed funding schemes of the Pacific railroad companies and urge that the latter be compelled to settle their indebtedness in some reasonable and business-like way so that the government shall foreclose its liens upon and take possession of the properties."

The convention came out squarely for silver in the following declaration, which was enthusiastically adopted:

"We favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 and the making of silver as well as gold a legal tender in payment of all debts both public and private."

The platform favors the proposed amendment to the constitution of California extending the elective franchise to women. It indorses the course of Senator Perkins and the work of the national Republican league. It also favors good roads and pledges the Republican party to a policy of constructing throughout the country roads on a scientific and economic basis.

The platform demands such national legislation on foreign immigration as will effectually keep out of the country all contract laborers, paupers, criminals and diseased persons and classes whose teachings and presence disturb the social peace and order, and demands such changes in the naturalization laws as will prevent foreign-born citizens, unfit to exercise the franchise, from becoming citizens, and further declares that future treaties with other nations should provide for the reciprocal deportation of criminals and insane so as to make each nation provide for its own.

While recognizing the right to establish schools through private enterprise, the platform demands that none but non-sectarian free public schools shall receive public aid. It indorses the proposition that farmers' labor and products should be protected, and as prices obtained by the farmers have lately been unremunerative, hence it approves the plan that the national government should reduce the cost of transportation on staple agricultural products from American to foreign seaports, and favors the use of a limited portion of the United States customs for this purpose. The party is pledged to enact such laws, and is pledged to legislation thoroughly protecting the dairy interests and public from imposition in the sale of dairy produce.

It favors such aid and protection to the miners as will enable them to obtain and to develop their property and encourage all kinds of mining, including hydraulic mining; advocates a revision of the tariff laws upon the basis of the American protective system; condemns the policy of the Democratic party during the past four years, resulting in the destruction of every barrier to American protection in weakness and in strength, which exalts life and promotes human happiness, and that such system rests upon the basis of the protective tariff as advocated by James G. Blaine and William McKinley.

THE OREGON'S TRIP.

An Unofficial Trial Satisfactory in Every Way.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The builders of the battleship Oregon, which was recently completed at the Union Iron Works, today gave her an unofficial trial trip from Hunter's Point to Red Rock for the purpose of loosening up her machinery for the official trial which will soon take place in Santa Barbara channel. The Oregon developed a speed of twelve knots an hour at half speed, and Henry T. Scott, the builder, predicted that the vessel would make over sixteen knots on her official trial trip. Considerable importance attaches to this statement from the fact that the government will give the builders $50,000 for each quarter knot developed in excess of sixteen knots. Great rivalry exists between eastern and western shipbuilders, and if the Oregon should beat the record of fifteen and a half knots established by her sister ship, the Indiana, California will have reason to feel proud. The trial made today was in every way satisfactory.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $269,804,649; gold reserve, $121,795,080.

ANOTHER JAIL BREAK

Madera Outlaws Shoot the Jailer.

HE IS WOUNDED IN THE ARM

One of Them Thought to be Shot. They Make Their Escape.

Madera had another jail break between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning. The two outlaws recently captured in a cave in the mountains made their escape. They dug through the wall and reached the room where Jailer Wells was sleeping. They overpowered him, but not without a fight in which shots were exchanged. He was shot through the arm, and thinks he wounded one of the outlaws.

They took the keys away from him and unlocked the door and gained their liberty and lost no time in getting away. Jailer Wells was not dangerously hurt.

One of the outlaws is Jack Laverine, who was sent to the penitentiary two years ago for stealing cattle. He was released a month ago and returned to Madera. It is not known who his partner is. They are accused of robbing a miner named Ashley of a $250 watch in the Madera foothills. It was for this that they were arrested.

When pursued by the officers they took refuge in a cave. Laverine came out and surrendered, but his partner would not leave the cave until blasted out by dynamite. After they broke jail they most probably shaped their course for the mountains.

CIVIL SERVICE RULES.

Cleveland Orders a General Revision Immediately.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Almost 30,000 government employes were brought at one sweep under the protection of the civil service today by the issuance of an order by President Cleveland making a general revision of the civil service rules. The order is the most important since the inauguration of the system, more than a decade ago. It takes effect immediately. Its practical extent is the classification of all government employes below the rank of those subject to nomination by the President and confirmation by the senate and the above grades of laborers and workmen with a few exceptions. The order has long been in contemplation and its promulgation this afternoon is the result of an immense amount of correspondence and conference between the President, the civil service commissioners and the heads of the various departments.

EXPELLED FROM CUBA.

Newspaper Correspondents Ordered to Leave the Island.

HAVANA, May 6.—James Creelman, correspondent of the New York World, and Frederick W. Lawrence, correspondent of the New York Journal have been expelled from the island on the ground that that they caluminated General Weyler, the government and army and attributed the insurgents' crimes to the Spanish army. They have been ordered to leave Cuba by the first steamer sailing from the island.

Admiral Navarro, upon whose coming the courtmartial of the Competitor filibusters has been awaiting, and General Pando, have arrived in Havana.

Healdsburg's Celebration.

HEALDSBURG, May 6.—The first day of the floral festival was as successful as could be wished for. Fully 3000 people witnessed the coronation exercises in the center of the plaza. After the jeweled crown had been placed upon the brow of the fair ruler and the keys of the municipality entrusted to her keeping by Mayor William H. Barnes, the regular program was begun.

Death of General Mansfield.

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—General John Mansfield died suddenly at his home in this city this morning from apoplexy. General Mansfield was born at Mendon, N. Y., in August, 1822. He fought valiantly in the late war and was colonel of a regiment, which before his command of it had lost more men than any other regiment in the service.

Sentences Reduced.

JOHANNESBURG, May 5.—The Standard and Diggers' News says it has authority to state that the sentences of John Hays Hammond and other so-called reformers will be reduced to a small fine and imprisonment. The sentences of banishment, the newspaper adds, will be waived.

STOCKTON, May 6.—The first wool sale under the auspices of the San Joaquin Growers' Association was held here today and 200 bales sold from 6 to 8 cents. There are 800 bales in storage here yet and another sale will be held on the 20th instant.

Fire at St. Louis.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The fifth annual bench show of the Pacific Coast Kennel Club opened today with 352 entries. Among the noted eastern dogs are Dudley Stroller, owned by Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn, and Warren Sage, the property of J. B. Martin. Defender, another dog exhibited by Dr. D'Evelyn, was a prize winner at the great bench show at the Crystal Palace in London. There are also a large number of American fox hounds, pointers and English setters. In the latter class is Doc H., owned by Herman Oelrichs of New York. The Gordon setters number eight. The Irish setters are numerous and led by Champion Dick Swiveller, owned by A. B. Truman of this city, winner in many shows in America. He is valued at $5000. The show will close Saturday night.

FLORAL PARADE.

Magnificent Feature of the San Jose Festival.

SAN JOSE, May 6.—Never before in the history of this city has there been witnessed such a magnificent spectacle as that presented to the gaze of 30,000 people this afternoon when the great floral procession passed along the streets to the music of a dozen bands.

The procession started shortly after 2 o'clock, divided into the divisions. It is said to have been the grandest ever held in the state.

This evening an illustrated concert was given at the pavilion by Rinccyieri's band, and the building was crowded to the doors. The streets and buildings were illuminated and the sidewalks were impassable owing to the throng of sightseers.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.

THE HOUSE READY FOR FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

The Senate Will Vote on the Bond Resolution at 4 O'clock Today.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The house today served notice on the senate and the country that it had transacted its business and was ready for final adjournment, by the passage, without division, of a resolution for final adjournment on Monday, May 18th.

The reading was received with an outburst of applause from members on both sides of the house. Mr. Wheeler, Democrat of Alabama, denounced the majority for proposing to desert their posts. He asserted that during the campaign of 1894 the Republican party had pledged itself to the relief of the people from existing depression.

"Caused by the Democratic party," interjected Mr. Milliken, Republican of Maine.

The report on the contest election case of Thompson vs. Shaw, from the Third North Carolina district, which was unanimously in favor of the sitting member, was adopted.

The house then proceeded, under the special order adopted yesterday, to consider private pension bills and acted on them at the rate of about one every five minutes.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The final vote on the resolution for an investigation of recent bond issues will be taken in the senate at 4 p.m. tomorrow. An agreement to this effect was reached late today after several test votes had been taken, which clearly indicated the sentiment held by the senate on the resolutions. The first vote was taken on the motion of Sherman to refer the resolutions to the financial committee. This was defeated, yeas 17, nays 35. An amendment by Lodge was then adopted, providing that the investigation should be conducted by the regular financial committee, instead of a special committee as at first proposed. Another amendment by Vilas, proposing modifications in the resolutions, was voted down, the affirmative vote being only seven. After these tests the agreement was reached for a final vote, when the resolution undoubtedly will pass. The voting came after Hill had added another lively installment to his speech, including a sharp criticism of Pettigrew and a personal exchange with Walcott when the latter tried to call Hill to order.

Manslaughter.

WILLOWS, May 6.—The jury in the Suhorn murder trial, after being out five hours, returned this evening with a verdict of manslaughter.

No Free Passes.

The proposition of letting the Athletic club members into the benefit free to be tendered to Professor Ernest Bradstreet on the 11th instant, has been seriously entertained by the talent who are to take part and those interested in the affair. The outcome is that there will not be one pass given away. Bradstreet has received word from Choynski that he will surely appear, and in conjunction with boxing the six rounds he will also give a ball punching exhibition, in which he is acknowledged the peer of the world, even excelling Corbett in that line.

THE "WIDE OPEN" BUSINESS.

The following paragraph appeared in the REPUBLICAN recently and has been commented upon by several of its contemporaries:

A producers' club has been organized at Bakersfield. The tendency down there is very clearly to raise less hell and more stuff that is found quoted in the market reports. The organization of a club to promote production is a healthy indication.

The Echo of Bakersfield takes this as the text for the following timely and well-considered editorial:

Bakersfield went stark mad a year and a half ago and every one—or nearly so—thought we must have a "wide open town" in order to be prosperous. What was the result? For the first time in a dozen or fifteen years we had plenty of vacant houses during the past winter. We didn't lose any prostitutes or pimps or bawdy-house hangers on to hurt, but we did lose many a good family. The water company's books have showed at various times from thirty to forty vacant houses along its water mains, and no one knows how many others have been unoccupied.

We would not say that all of this has been due to the moral atmosphere of the place but do assert positively that much of it was. But the change is at hand and the man who likes to tell every stranger that comes to town how "tough" we are is fast losing his voice and the "prominent citizen" who erstwhile boasted of filthy, unkept streets communes chiefly with his own thoughts now. Were the question submitted today, Bakersfield would vote for her incorporation by an overwhelming majority, and a town council of good men would be supported in projecting the usual line of city improvements, of course with reasonable moderation.

Yes, the change has begun and the better side of our people's nature is to have an inning. There will never be another petition circulated here asking the officers to allow the law to be openly violated, but good order and decent surroundings are going to be respected and even loved.

California has been unfortunate in the fact that she has had among her population so large a number of people who had by their early experience in mining camps and frontier towns become imbued with the idea that a live town is necessarily run upon the "wide open" plan, and that any attempt to introduce the regulations and restrictions of older communities was the signal for setting up a business graveyard and driving life and activity to wilder and woolier pastures. To this class of people it has seemed that when the red lights went out in the dance hall and the gambling hell that the sun of prosperity had gone down in darkness. They had grown to honestly believe that the sort of life to which they had grown accustomed was the cause of good times instead of the baneful results of easy returns from legitimate enterprise, which flourished in spite of this poisonous fungus upon a healthy growth.

It has taken a long time and a great many funerals to destroy the force of this idea in California, but it is now well nigh obliterated. Bakersfield is the one place in the state where it has held practically undisputed sway up to recent date, and now the cheerful news comes from there that the progressive, law-abiding element is finally in the ascendency and that better conditions will hereafter prevail in the final rallying place of the class who believe that a live town is one in which law and decency take a back seat while license and indecency rule the day.

In view of the object lesson which has for several years been before them in the almost marvelous development and prosperity of Southern California it is more than strange that so many otherwise intelligent people have clung to the out-of-date and altogether preposterous idea that the reasonable regulation of some kinds of business and the suppression of others is equivalent to a deadly attack upon the general prosperity. In no other portion of the state has this "wide open" idea been so effectually destroyed as in Southern California, and in no other locality has development been so rapid and satisfactory. The tendency may have been to go to extremes in certain localities, but even there have not been experienced the graveyard results so persistently predicted by the opponents of civilizing influences. The reason is plain enough. The conditions which have been demanded and enforced have appealed to a class of home-seekers whose thrift and industry have quickly turned the desert to a blooming garden, and their satisfaction with a healthy moral environment has kept the stream coming steadily, and capital and enterprise have been there achieving their most signal triumphs in the great West.

The people of Central and Northern California who still retain some of the ideas born of the old regime have only to look to the section south of Tehachapi to discover their mistake. The "wide open" business does not pay; it is a dead loss to the people who countenance it or submit to it, materially and in every other way.

A MORE certain gauge of the swelling strength of the popular movement for McKinley cannot be found than the growing malevolence of the attacks upon that Republican aspirant by the Democratic press. Even at this early date the Examiner has portrayed him as a man of the most despicable character, and by the time the verdict of the various state conventions have made his nomination certain it is quite evident that enough will have been published, if it were the truth instead of malignant falsehood, to justify the neighbors of Governor McKinley in organizing a vigilance committee and hanging him to a convenient tree. The fact that this country has had two comparatively decent national campaigns in succession justified the hope that there might be a continuation of that desirable line of conduct; but apparently the Cleveland administration has put the Democracy so deep in the mire that it cannot forego the temptation to make use of the ammunition that is most abundant and nearest at hand. It will be unfortunate if this proves to be the case, for it will do that party no good, and cannot be otherwise than a source of degradation to the commonwealth. We believe that the Republican party has learned the lesson that villification in political campaigns does not pay; perhaps there is some truth in the statement that the Democratic party is incapable of learning.

A SATISFACTORY PLATFORM.

After all the poor advice which has been given the delegates to the state convention, and the many predictions of a platform constructed for the placation of gold bugs and the Southern Pacific railroad, it is gratifying to know that a platform has been adopted which voices the sentiment of the vast majority of the people of California and leaves the trimmers and policy men to find such solace as they may in the reflection that they could have done it much better had they not been a helpless and hopeless minority.

A synopsis of the platform which appears elsewhere in this issue clearly and unequivocally announces that the Republican party of this state desires the nomination of William McKinley for President; a speedy return to the policy of protection and reciprocity; the coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 and its rehabiliment as a money of redemption; the defeat of the funding bill; the restriction of foreign immigration and the limitation of public aid to non-sectarian free schools; the enfranchisement of women; the reduction of transportation charges on agricultural staples shipped to foreign countries, and the building of permanent and scientifically constructed roads throughout the country.

The platform does credit to the convention, and as an honest and straightforward statement of party sentiment in this state it serves its purpose admirably.

PEOPLE who were predicting that the Republican platform would be full of large, irregular blow-holes on the silver and funding bill questions may as well frankly admit that the gift of prophecy is denied them. The declarations made on these issues by the convention are clear-cut and positive.

THE platform committee was apparently not aware of the fact that there was such a thing as a funding bill before congress, but the convention did not overlook it. It was not that kind of a convention.

THE bosses occupied back seats in the convention which finished its work at Sacramento yesterday.

RANDOM REMARKS.

After the M. E. general conference has decided whether or not women may take part in its deliberations, it might be well for it to turn its combined mind loose on the question of about what sort of a desert the church would be without the women. The Methodist brethren may as well take their medicine. They will have to come to it.

The Republican state convention should keep a jealous eye on its anti-funding resolution. Otherwise, if the emissaries of Uncle Collis can get their hands on it, it may be doctored into a first rate pro-funding resolution before it reaches Washington. It should be remembered that Uncle's friends perform some great feats in the line of legerdemain.

There are a good many California statesmen who have advanced in public favor to the point where cigars and race horses have been named after them, and it is pretty hard on the cigars and horses, too.—Woodland Mail.

You are about right, brother, but, after all, have you watched the horses and sampled the cigars so named? Of course it is hard on the steeds and the tobacco, but, honestly, as they average, don't you think that they deserve it?

Professor Angell of Stanford university says that the immortality of the soul of animals lower than man is not a question of science. Then is man's immortality a question for science? If it is not, does not our vaunted science fall down before the question of all questions? And if it is, is it not strange that questions apparently so intimately related bear no relation to each other in the opinion of the scientific mind? Of course the questions we ask may not be scientific, but they appear to have some justification in reason.

A Fort Bidwell man married, and two weeks after the event he committed suicide because he feared that he could not support his bride. We are no believer in the theory that a suicide necessarily is a coward, but assuredly the Fort Bidwell man was one. He promised to care for and support the woman, and it was his place to make every effort to do it, to the end. Instead, he flunked. He left his wife to fight her battle alone in a world where he considered the conditions of living too hard for him to bear. He feared that he could not make a living for her, and so he left her to make it for herself. It was a poltroonish deed, and if the mills of justice grind on through the cycles it will be atoned for sooner or later.

Tennessee's Centennial.

On June 1st of this year Tennessee will celebrate its centennial of admission to the Union. The Tennessee colony in Fresno will no doubt feel a special interest in the event. Tennessee was founded largely by the same hardy stock of pioneers who won Kentucky from the wilderness. The celebration will be held in Nashville.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Something About Indigents and Their Bleeders.

PECULIAR, UNFORTUNATE VIEWS

Some Lots of Goods For the Labor Exchange—A Few Lines Here and There.

In these good Democratic times when syndicates make many million dollars from deals in government bonds and when an army of tramps marches from jail to jail of the land, it is not surprising that county officials are staggered by the problem of what shall be done with the constantly-increasing hosts of indigents. We are breeding these indigents; we are using them in the construction of multi-millionaires, and they must in some poor way be cared for, for they have acquired the unfortunate habit of living and it clings to them tenaciously. If they are genuinely and necessarily poor they must be fed and clothed, and if they are imposters they must sooner or later be jailed, for in dealing with the fever which in recent years has seized on the body politic the wisdom of man suggests but two remedies, a poultice or a blister; it prescribes no internal medicine. So the increasing poor we have with us, and in Fresno county, as elsewhere, the public expends thousands of dollars annually in feeding them. I do not believe that these poor are necessary; I firmly believe that the Almighty has given to this earth the capacity to comfortably feed and clothe all men who dwell upon it, but while unwise laws breed paupers and millionaires, and while to suggest a remedy is to be scouted as a crank by a majority of mankind, I want it distinctly understood that I utter no protest against bearing my little part of the duty of feeding the poor. The condition, with its poverty-stricken wretches, is with us, and if men will not remedy it, they should at least see that nobody starves.

But while a well-meaning citizen may cheerfully pay his share toward the support of the poor, I wish to make it perfectly clear that I, for one, object to contributing anything to the sharks and cormorants who prey on the county's paupers. If any stray nickel of mine reaches their greedy pockets, it will be against my most earnest protest. Think of a woman who has but $15 a month to stand between herself and her children, on the one hand, and starvation, on the other hand—think of such a one being compelled to pay $1.75 of that sum (nearly 12 per cent) to one of these human vultures! Clearly the people who obtain such warrants must have them cashed without delay. Think of creatures who will prey upon the necessities of such want-driven unfortunates! They charge, says the REPUBLICAN'S report, from 5 to 15 per cent for discounting warrants which have to run only from two or three up to twenty or thirty days, and, so far as they are able, they repeat the process every month. We pay to our destitute enough to keep them most miserably through the year, and of the year's stipend these fellows take the pittance of a month or more. Shame does not deter them. If a person were acquainted only with the habits of animals other than man, he would not believe such callous selfishness a possibility; the man who knows man must shamefacedly confess that it is.

I am informed that some of these creatures who fatten on the woes of others are members of Fresno churches. May the Lord pity the church that can get rid of such a member and does not do it, and may He equally pity a church which has such a member and does not try to be rid of him. Does such a one contribute money to your church? There are blood and tears on every dollar of it. The church that esteems such a man good enough for it is a long way from the One who said: "Sell that thou hast and give to the poor." One may admire the courage of a train robber, but even this poor privilege is denied to us in connection with the fellow who crushes his victims under the mantle of law.

I say that it is the duty of the supervisors to protect the poor and the taxpayers against this conscienceless brood. I say, again, that it is their place to see that not one dollar is diverted from paupers, for whom it is intended, to panper-bleeders. When one-tenth, or one-twelfth, or one-twentieth of a fund for indigents is permitted to reach those who prey on them, it is an iniquity, not only against the poor, but also against the taxpayers, who have no money to donate to these sleek fellows. Let the supervisors select their own course for remedying this evil, whether it be by giving orders for provisions and clothing or in some other way, but they certainly owe it to the people and their poor to do something in the matter. Such a perversion of such a fund is an enormity that has no right to exist.

"Mr. Winterhouse's peculiar and unfortunate way of thinking is what affected 'to chill the aspirations that he did not have.'"—From the Expositor.

I hold this as truth: That the world will cleave onward
From the night of the wrong to the day of the right;
That the soul from its chaos may ever turn sunward
And rest at the last in an infinite light.
I hold that the wrong, though a world haste to crown it,
Must fail at the end in the dust and the mire,
And right, though an ocean of evil would drown it,
Shall take up the scepter, the kingdom acquire.

I deem that on duty no failure attendeth;
In the far away end it will reach to success.
We dream for a moment. Behold, the dream endeth,
And nothing is left save the pathway we press.
I think that our actions may prove our evangels,
Or haply our fiends, to harrass and blight;
We may consort with demons or rank with the angels,
And ours is the choice of the day or the night.

I would do if I might some action of kindness;
I would gladden my brothers who sorrow and pine;
For though I am blind, yet there strikes through my blindness
One faith or one knowledge, that love is divine.
The pleading of pity, the prompting of duty,
I hold be to craven who dares to refuse,
And away from the right there is nothing of beauty—
So stand my "peculiar, unfortunate" views.

I hope and expect that the Labor Exchange will be conducted in accord with the spirit that is supposed to characterize it, and, if it is, I do not doubt that it will be beneficial to the people of Fresno county. But what I wish to know is what it will allow me for an assortment of the kind of products in which I deal, that I happen to have on hand. Here is an inventory of them, and I hope that Manager Cummings will let me know soon how much they are worth in deposit checks, as I desire to deal with the exchange and have no other products to offer:

Lot 1—Seven illuminated thinks of various sizes; in fair condition, but slightly frayed aronnd the edges.

Lot 2—Eighty-three rhymes; would not fit in where needed, but are otherwise all right.

Lot 3—Four turgid sentences; might be sold to a campaign orator.

Lot 4—One dozen glittering metaphors; probably could be sold with lot 3.

Lot 5—Gas in quantity; would be useful as an anasthetic, but is not much good as an illuminant.

If the exchange will take these goods at fair figures, I will rummage around in my attic and try to find some more.

It should not be at all difficult to stop the weekly powwow, or dance, which is held in the old kindergarten building on O street. In fact, now that the officers have been notified and the newspapers have advertised these strictly informal Saturday night functions (I have never used the word in such a sense before, but here is a good place for it), I think that these sessions of quick boys and girls will forever terminate. Yes, indeed, William, it is as you say; boys will be boys. But that is a very different thing from saying that boys will be hoodlums.

* * *

I notice that the four saloons which have applied for licenses will divide themselves evenly between Front street and Chinatown. That is right; if there is anything which Front street and Chinatown need above all things it is more saloons. They need them as oases in the whiskey desert which is inaintained in that part of the city. I hope that the trustees will not hesitate a moment about granting the licenses, and I do not believe that they will. By being expeditious in the matter they might save some thirsty mortal's life.

* * *

I think that I express the universal sentiment of Fresno when I say that the departure of Harry Sherwood and his family will be considered a great loss to the city. Mr. Sherwood is public-spirited, enterprising and energetic, and few of our citizens would have been more missed.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

AGAIN POSTPONED.

Kirby's Report Still Awaiting Consideration.

The city Board of Education met again last night for the purpose of considering the report of Architect Kirby on his investigation of the work on the new high school building. But as Trustees Monroe and Church were absent the matter was continued until 3 o'clock today, when a meeting will be held in Mr. Gallagher's office.

The board passed several bills. On motion of Gallagher the bill of Mr. Kirby for the experting was laid over until it could be passed upon by a full board.

"What is the amount of the bill," was asked.

"Seventy-five dollars," answered Mr. Gallagher.

"Seventy-five dollars!" said Chairman Eden in a tone of amazement. "Kirby will never get that amount by my vote. The agreement was that he was to have $50 for the job."

Mr. Gallagher explained that the $25 was added for the second or "thorough" investigation.

AMUSEMENTS.

Sparkling Comedy at the Barton Tonight.

Rose Stillman will be seen in a double bill tonight at the Barton. "The Open Gate," a dainty curtain raising in one act, so lately produced at the Alcazar, will precede the sparkling comedy, "Jane." Miss Stillman is said to be unusually clever in the title role. Mr. Snow, Miss Stockmeyer, Mr. Bell and Master Ralph are all happily cast. The curtain raising will present both Mr. Snow and Miss Stillman to advantage. This talented company, organized under the management of Mr. Riggs, has made a most favorable impression.

BAD JIM HASLIP.

AN INDIAN WHO DEFIES THE OFFICERS.

Wanted in Madera County For Murder—At Home Ready to Receive Officers.

There is one Indian in Fresno county who defies the pale-face officers. He is Jim Haslip who is wanted in Madera county for murder. It is charged that he killed an Italian near Raymond about two years ago. Jim has eluded the officers so far, and from present indications he will continue to do so indefinitely.

Haslip was living for several months on the rancheria above Big Sandy. He says he will not be taken alive and defies capture. He is a "bad Injun," and those who know him say he will most probably make trouble should any officer try to arrest him. He is an expert with pistol and rifle.

There are several constables in the county aching to capture Jim and come home with hat and overcoat punctured with bullets, and a bad man in charge. Several are talking of making a trip to the mountains in quest of the wild man of the woods. Sheriff Sam Westfall of Madera county several months ago made a trip after the Indian. The sheriff learned where he was stopping, just above Huskins' place in Big Sandy. The officer went to the rancheria and found the doors all locked. He effected an entrance, however, and searched the place, but did not find anyone at home. Westfall had to return without his man.

It was afterwards learned that Haslip was concealed under a pile of old clothes in a corner and the sheriff overlooked him. The Indian had lain under the old clothes with a pistol in each hand ready to shoot if discovered.

A few weeks ago Constable Jack Irvine of Sanger happened to be in the mountains in the vicinity of the rancheria at which Haslip was staying. Irvine concluded to take Mr. Haslip down with him if the Indian was attainable. He went to the rancheria and found the doors locked. He knocked. There was no response, and he came to the conclusion that no one was at home. He did not think that Haslip would learn of his presence in the vicinity.

The fact of the case was that Haslip was at home. Friends had told him of the officer's presence in the mountains, and when he saw a pale face approaching the rancheria he supposed it was the constable. Not wishing to take any chances, the Indian closed the doors of the house and waited inside with a pistol in each hand, to receive the officer should he effect an entrance. But the officer did not get the door open.

It is reported that Haslip left the Big Sandy rancheria immediately after Irvine's visit, as he considered a change of residence would benefit his health. He is now supposed to be in some of the rancherias higher up in the mountains.

Sheriff Westfall has a reward of $20 standing for Haslip's capture.

COUNTY ORPHANAGE

The Lady Managers Want Their Own Building.

PRECINCT REGISTRATION BOOKS

The Board Gives Orders for the New Register—Indigents Still Arrive.

The lady managers of the county orphanage, who had a brief conference with the Board of Supervisors in executive session two or three days ago, will come before the board this morning with a request that the county build an orphanage of its own. Naturally the ladies like to feel that they are running their own home when they take charge of the county's orphans, and it is not an easy matter to manage a number of children in a rented house. Moreover, an orphanage requires to be specially built for the purpose, and even the largest private house proves unsuitable when used for the exclusive accommodation of children.

The matter has been under consideration by the board for over a year past, and it is understood that plans have been sketched out by which all the children in the orphanage, and at least as many more, might be accommodated in one new building and the county indigents in another, at cost for construction of only $6000. The state of the county funds is not favorable to the project at present, but the ladies will probably hear their side of it fully discussed this morning.

After County Clerk Hart had stirred up the board a bit on the matter of the precinct registration now in progress, it was ordered that the county clerk be instructed to have separate precinct books when the Great Register is printed. This will probably prove more expensive, but will greatly facilitate the work of the clerks on election day.

The indigents kept the board busy most of the day and thirteen names were added to the pay list, while two applications were denied. The supervisors explained to a reporter that it is only during about three months in the year that any necessity exists for discounting indigent warrants. During other months the county treasurer has the means of cashing them at their full value, so that the payment of a commission to brokers is wholly optional with the holders of indigent warrants. It is well known however that most indigents have their warrants discounted month after month, and sometimes year after year.

The report of the county orphans shows that during April there were thirty children within the institution, two of whom were taken out by their sister, and one was sent to the Whittier Reform school.

The monthly report of Coroner Long shows that three inquests had been held during April. In one case a verdict of death from natural causes was rendered. The second case was that of an Indian who was killed by one of his tribe. The third was that of C. M. Hamilton found dead on the banks of the San Joaquin river.

The report of Dr. J. D. Davidson, superintendent of the county hospital, showed that on April 1st there were 107 inmates; admitted during the month 31; 6 patients died and 26 were discharged, leaving 106 in the hospital. Of the six deaths five were due to tubercular disease.

A curious impression seems to prevail among applicants for indigent relief that there is a sliding scale of so much per child dependent upon the mother. A statement of allowances made on Tuesday would serve to explain away this impression. A mother with four children may be able to get along with $12 a month if assisted by relatives or able to do a little work, while another with only one child, and being herself sick, may need an equal sum. Everything depends on the circumstances and it is these circumstances into which the supervisors have been patiently enquiring.

As an example, Mrs. Frank Miller, the mother-in-law of a member of the city police force, stated that the money she had received monthly from the county had gone in paying a physician for advice, etc. The board promptly canceled the pecuniary grant and gave her an order for medical attendance, it being plain that her relatives could support her.

The "scientific road" now being built on the extension of Ventura avenue eastward by Supervisor Winkersham has been inspected by the board. It will be filled in and rolled as fast as possible, and when connected with Mr. Sayre's portion, will give a fine road to the colonies to the east of town.

Tax Collector Moodey paid $94,000 into the county treasury yesterday, being the semi-annual settlement.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SOLD.

It is Purchased by the German Lutherans.

The German Lutheran congregation of this city has purchased the Christian church at the corner of Mariposa and M streets. The work of moving the building has already begun. It will be located at the corner of L and Ventura streets. The German Lutheran church was organized in Fresno about four years ago and the congregation has enjoyed prosperity and is able to buy a church now.

The Christian congregation will immediately take steps to raise funds for the erection of a new house of worship. For the present the Adventist church will be used for services. The old building was too small. It has not been settled as yet where the new church will be located.

West Park Dance Postponed.

Owing to the death of our late friend and former resident, John Creelman, the social dance to have been given by the Haymakers' Union on Friday evening, May 8th, will be postponed until further notice. PRESIDENT.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Wiener's I Street Stores

Our constant business rule has been honest dealing—no misrepresentation—and the best values the world's markets could afford. The result is that

WIENER AND LOW PRICES

Are synonymous terms, and the great trading public points to our stores as the great regulating bargain center just as surely as the magnet points to the North Pole.

For Years We Have Made the Pace,

And that is what we are doing today, giving competition a pronounced thrashing—often to the tune of 30 and 40 per cent. To see is to believe. Come and we will prove it to you.

Many people wink the knowing eye and say Wiener has been too successful to give up any part of his business.

We admit with pardonable pride the success we have achieved in this community, but we declare positively our intention of curtailing our business for purely personal reasons; hence the reason of our SLAUGHTERING PRICES and placing before the public bargains never before heard of. You remember the decimation of the French on the field of Gravelotte; it was a terrible slaughter. We are making this sale the Gravelotte of prices in Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Shoes, etc. As we have already told you, WE ARE SELLING TO REALIZE, AND NOT FOR PROFIT.

The Dam Still Stands.

Karl W. Browne, local superintendent of the Ohio State Mining Company's works at the mouth of Fine Gold Gulch, above Millerton, reports that in consequence of rising waters work on the wrecked dam is suspended till the end of June. It has been found that the winter flood carried away eight feet of the top of the dam and much of the cribbing. The rest of the dam is solid and it is believed can be easily repaired before the summer is over, so that the pool can be pumped out.

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good results. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it.

A MORNING BLAZE.

TWO HOUSES IN THE ADDITIONS BURN.

The Necessity of Fire Protection Clearly Shown—What Costly Experiences Teaches.

At 10 o'clock this morning an old building near the east end of Fresno street, about 100 yards outside the city limits, caught fire from a defective flue, as is supposed. An alarm was turned in and the department responded promptly, but the engines refused to go beyond the city limits without orders, such being the rules.

A new house belonging to Karl Nestel stood adjoining, and took fire from the heat. The roof was nearly ready to fall in before orders came to lay out hose across the city limits. Within less than three minutes a long line of hose was unreeled, and water was playing on the fire which was quickly extinguished. But Mr. Nestel's house was ruined, and the other, which had been occupied by Mr. West, was entirely consumed. There was insurance.

This is another illustration of the advantages the additions would enjoy by coming into the city. Those who have been compelled to stand helplessly and see the fire slowly approach their houses, and finally consume them, when an engine could put out the fire in a few minutes, can appreciate the value of fire protection. Had Mr. Nestel's house stood in the city limits it would have been saved.

Yet, no one can reasonably blame the city trustees for refusing to permit the fire engines to go beyond the city limits. People inside the limits pay for the apparatus to protect their own property, and it is unreasonable to ask it to go outside and leave property in the city exposed to fire. The orders which the trustees give, and which the department obeys, are necessary, although sometimes they may appear hard hearted. The sentiment in favor of the additions coming into the city is believed to be growing.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Mrs. Mitchell Seeks Advice from Judge Austin.

Justice of the Peace Austin yesterday had one of those varied experiences to which a man in his position is subjected. Had it not been for the able assistance of the venerable Major Dennett the Judge would surely have been in a very trying position.

Mrs. Mitchell, who keeps the New Park lodginghouse on Front street, came to court to seek redress. Evidently she had "rushed the growler" to a considerable extent. That is, she had been drinking.

It was the same old trouble. Miller had "licked her." About a year ago she had wedded the confiding Mr. Miller, but their matrimonial boat has been tossed on a stormy sea of domestic tribulation, and she came to Justice Austin yesterday as a harbor of refuge. She wanted advice. Whenever she gets into trouble she goes to him. Yesterday she wanted a warrant for Miller's arrest. Judge Austin has had experience with her before and he knew that if Miller were locked up his relenting wife would be one of the first to help him out. So the court advised her not to insist on the warrant.

"I'll take yer advice," said she. "You have been a good friend to me, yer honor; that ye have; you have a handsome countenince, judge; yer a noble man; ye've been a very good friend to me. But oh! how Miller has abused me; I ought to have him arrested."

The abused woman was going on at this rate when Major Dennett came in. He understood the situation at a glance. He proceeded to assist the court out of the difficulty. "Judge, there's a man out here who wants to see you right away," said the Major, "and excuse me, madam, but this is very important business."

Mrs. Mitchell thanked the court profusely for his kindness and proceeded to leave. But her state of inebriation rendered walking out of the question and she fell. Judge Austin and Major Dennett assisted her to her feet and she laughingly remarked that she was "a little full" and staggered out of the court room.

AN OLD PLAY REVIVED.

The "Ticket of Leave Man" Produced at the Barton.

There was a time, perhaps twenty years ago, when the demand for strictly American plays was not so strong as now, when a thoroughly English drama like the "Ticket of Leave Man" would draw crowded houses in an American city. But the day of such dramas is gone. They are played out as utterly as "Othello" and "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark."

The Rose Stillman Company, which reproduced the "Ticket of Leave Man" last night, was worthy of a better audience, and literally won a fight against odds, said odds being the veteran character of the jokes, the situations and the stage effects, together with the anglicisms of the dialogues. Mortimer Snow as the hero, Bob Brierly, was equal to every demand of an exacting and emotional part. J. Lawrence as Jem Dalton, the tiger, was a very villainous villian. W. Bell delighted the gallery as Hawkshaw, the detective, for the gallery gods were well represented, and next to a full-fledged criminal, a catcher of criminals is their pride and joy. Melter Moss, the money lender, was fairly represented by Ed Felt, as was Host Maltby of the tea garden by C. Riggs. A. Sutherland was a decent exponent of Mr. Gibson, a decent man.

Rose Stillman as the faithful leal and true heroine was equal to the requirements of the part of May Edwards, and Mollie Stockmeyer as Mrs. Willoughby, the gossiping and intrusive landlady, won plaudits whenever she appeared. Her son, Sam, who might have been the original of "Peck's Bad Boy," was impersonated by Master Ralph in a way to suggest close study and natural aptitude for the part.

The play began over half an hour late, the house being then moderately filled. There was a good gallery.

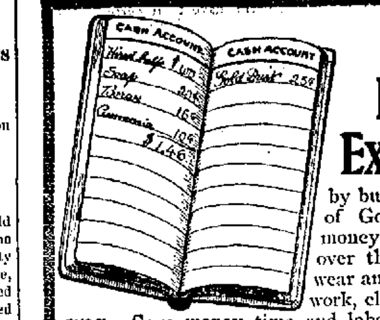

The following Fresno people are in Armona, attending the San Joaquin Baptist Association: Rev. J. S. Norvell, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. White, Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey, Mrs. A. D. Ewing, Mrs. A. E. Fay, Luther Gray, Luther Sharpes, J. L. Grainger and J. E. Arthur.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

James Creelman Meets an Untimely Death.

James Creelman, a well-known resident of Fresno, formerly of West Park, was killed early yesterday morning near the oil tanks north of town by a locomotive. The particulars are only surmised, as he did not live long enough to tell how he was hurt. He went out to stake a cow on the reservation, and while thus engaged, he was run over. He was hard of hearing and it is probable he did not hear the approaching train. An inquest will be held tomorrow when the fireman on the engine which killed him returns to appear as a witness.

Mr. Creelman was a native of Nova Scotia and at the time of his death was 69 years old.

He left nine children, five sons and four daughters. One son and one daughter reside in the east; one son in San Francisco; two daughters, Mrs. F. S. Gilbert and Mrs. G. W. Archibald, reside in this city; another, Mrs. F. W. Gilbert, lives in West Park, and Robert and William Creelman live in West Park.

The funeral will be held today at 2 p. m. from the residence of Fred S. Gilbert, 103 Coast avenue, near the north end of I street.
